7,000 FEET OF CABLES

NEW UNDERGROUND SYSTEM PLANNED BY HANAMO CO.

MATERIAL IS ON HAND

New Projects to Run South on South Main and Others Reach North and West From Mulberry and Fifth.

With the granting of a permit by the city council last night to the Hanamo Telephone Co., extensive operations that will include approximately 7,000 lineal feet of underground cables will soon be started, according to Harry Todd, manager of the concern. All of the work planned for this year may not be completed before winter, Mr. Todd said this morning, but there will be a crew of from ten to fifteen men at work continuously until the cold weather calls the work to a halt.

Mr. Todd added that the Hanamo Telephone Co. is following out its policy adopted in 1914 not to put up any more overhead cables, except for those that are in need of repair. Since this date all the new cables that have been added to the system in Maryville have been placed under ground.

The Hanamo Co. has three projects in view, the first of which will be undertaken and completed this year, is an underground cable of fifty pairs, or 100 wires, that will commence on the north side of Lincoln between Main and Buchanan streets and run south on the west side of South Main from this point to a place six feet south of the city limits. Here the cable will go under the pavement to the east side of the street and run south to a point fifty feet south of the city limits where all of the Hanamo lines going south will connect. This will be a line about 800 feet in length.

Another underground cable project which is planned will start after this south line is completed, will commence at a point in an alley halfway between Mulberry and Walnut streets and between Fourth and Fifth streets. One underground cable will be run west from here on Normal avenue to Grand avenue. It will also be a cable of fifty pairs. Also from the same starting point a fifty pair cable is planned to be constructed north to Seventh street and then turn west on Seventh street to Residence Hall. Mr. Todd said that if the College will furnish a cable under the College grounds he will put in a line that will serve all the College telephones.

This new underground cable system will eliminate all overhead wires except the service wires that will run into private residence.

Before the cables are placed in the trenches, which will be thirty inches in depth, they will be treated with a tar preparation for the purposes of keeping the chemicals of the different soils from affecting the cable and also to prevent animals from eating at the cables and also for additional waterproof advantages.

Mr. Todd said this morning that most of the material to be used in this work is now on hand. A cable man and helper are now here making permanent repairs and will return when the new cables are put in the trenches.

Arctic Sea Plane Damaged by Surf

Washington, D. C., August 14.—Continual pounding of the icy arctic surf sprung the seams of one of the three naval planes with the MacMillan expedition and only with great difficulty was it prevented from sinking, Commander Byrd notified the navy department by wireless from Etah, Greenland.

A card was received today from Miss Betty Turner, Red Cross Executive secretary, stating that she has been sight seeing at Catalina Island, and also that she was over at Tia Juana, Old Mexico, but at the latter place she did not have the courage to witness any bull fights.

New War Explosive Is Being Distributed

Two Cars Pyrotol Will Be Shipped From St. Joseph Through the Extension Service.

The state Extension Service, through the county Farm Bureau, is distributing two car loads of pyrotol, the new war explosive. One carload of this explosive is to be distributed from St. Joseph and Nodaway County farmers will be able to secure this material through the county agent's office, according to an announcement today by J. Ross Fleetwood.

The Extension Service has given out some figures showing the relative cost of blasting stumps with pyrotol and dynamite. For example, take a stump requiring four cartridges, the cost of blasting with pyrotol is 17 cents, while it would cost 57 cents to blast with dynamite. For an acre of stumps containing fifty four-cartridge stumps the cost for blasting with pyrotol is $7.28 per acre and dynamite is $28.75.

One hundred caps are furnished free with each 100 pound order of pyrotol.

The above shipment of pyrotol will be ready for distribution sometime during the month of October. Since pyrotol does not freeze it can easily be kept until needed.

Pyrotol is used for blasting stumps, boulders and tree planting, never for ditching work. It has strength equal to 40 per cent dynamite for stump blasting purposes and will not cause headaches from using. It is handled and stored the same as dynamite.

Should Make Payment on Cemetery Pledges

Driver Accomplice in Mail Truck Theft

Kewanee, Ill., Aug. 14.—After an all night's grilling, Joe Jackson, 30, driver of a mail truck which a lonesome bandit held up and took a registered pounch which is believed to contain the payroll of the Kewanee Boiler Works, admitted his complicity in the robbery and named Phil Robinson of Casper, Wyo., as the confederate who escaped.

Jackson told Post-office Inspector Baumgardner of Chicago that Robinson frequently proposed to him that they steal the registered mail pouch from Chicago, Burlington and Quincy train but each time Jackson refused.

Thursday Jackson said Robinson came again and insisted on being allowed to hold up the truck. Officials are of the opinion that the Kewanee payroll was not in the stolen pouch but say they will be unable to determine the amount of money lost until a check-up is made in the Chicago office.

Jackson is understood to have served a term in the Wyoming prison for auto stealing.

WILL STUCCO WATER TOWER

R. M. CUMMINGS IS TO DO THE WORK FOR $390.

COUNCIL BUYS FURNACE

To Be Erected in the Library Building —Lloyd Geist Furnace Job Last Night.

For the further preservation and beautification of the brick foundation of the city water tower at Mulberry and Ninth streets, the city council has entered into a contract with R. M. Cummings to have two coats of cement and a coat of stucco, a complete thickness of three-quarters of an inch, applied within the next sixty days for a consideration of $390.

The contract calls for the cleaning of the brick of the forty foot base of the water tower and two applications of cement and then a coating of stucco, all of the material and labor to be furnished by the contractor.

The Maryville water tower has an interesting history and the present tower is perhaps of a more distinctive type than will be found in many states. In 1886 a standpipe was erected. Seven years later it was destroyed when a heavy coating of ice formed at the top, causing the pipe to collapse. A brick tower was erected in 1893 and was continued in use until 1913, when the brick was torn down to forty feet above the concrete base and what is known as an eight post steel tower erected on the brick base at a cost of $7,000.

It has a capacity of 150,000 gallons, 30,000 more gallons capacity than the former tower. The present water tower was erected under the city direction as in 1912 the city took over the plant of the Maryville Water Co.

Two years ago the base of the tower was strengthened by re-inforcing the underground wall. In order to insure long life of the brick of the tower the council is having the brick protected with the cement coatings, which is also a part of the plan to beautify the grounds owned by the city where the tower is located.

In special session last night the city council accepted the bid of Lloyd Geist for a new furnace to be erected in the basement of the library building. The work is to be completed before fall. Mr. Geist's bid of $344 is for the furnace proper. Heideman-Leet submitted a bid to the council for $376.

Jim Andy Ford was granted a permit by the council to construct a tight fence around his property on the northeast corner of Market and Second streets. The owner agrees to keep the fence painted. The council also passed an ordinance providing for the establishing of a sidewalk grade on both sides of the street on Normal street from Dunn to Grand avenue. The council adjourned until August 19 at which time some more paving matters are to be considered.

Belgium Is Given Easier Debt Terms

Washington, Aug. 14.—Considerable more lenient terms will be given to Belgium in settlement of her 480 million dollar war debt than were accorded any other debtor nations that have negotiated up to the present time.

This appeared certain today following another session of the Belgian-American commission at which the Belgians reported they could not agree on the terms as proposed by the American commission yesterday. A high treasury official declared, however, that this should not be taken as a "deadlock" but both sides were hopeful of an agreement. The joint conference adjourned today until Tuesday so time may be given to Secretary Mellon and Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah to go to Plymouth, Vermont, to make a detailed report on the negotiations to President Coolidge and ask his approval to negotiate with Belgium on considerably easier terms. An undeniable note of optimism prevailed among both sides of the commission.

Young Daughter of John Cook Dies

Elouise Virginia Cook, two-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Cook, died at 9:45 o'clock last night at the Cook home, northeast of Maryville. Death was caused by cholera infantum. Funeral services will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon at Workman Chapel and burial will be in the adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. J. P. Morgan Dies in New York

New York, Aug. 14.—Mrs. John Pierpont Morgan, wife of the noted financier, died today. She had been ill for a week of a form of sleeping sickness. The death came as a surprise for as far as her friends knew she had suffered no relapse since her critical condition a month ago. At that time it was believed she would recover. She died at noon.

Mrs. Morgan was Jane Norton Grew, the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grew of Boston. The Morgans were married Dec. 11, 1890.

NOT GUILTY SAYS ADAMS

YOUNG ALLEGED SLAYER SO PLEADS IN JUSTICE COURT.

WAIVES PRELIMINARY

Two Well-Known Criminal Lawyers Will Defend Seventeen-Year Old Ohio Lad.

Sedalia, Aug. 14. — Everett Adams, 17-year-old Ohio school boy, pleaded not guilty today of the murder of Aden R. Clawson of Lodi, N. Y., and was bound over to the October term of the Pettis circuit court without bond.

The boy was suddenly arraigned on the charge of first degree murder in Justice T. H. Fisher's court this morning soon after Claude Wilkerson, Sedalia criminal attorney, agreed to defend him. The hearing was originally set for 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Young Adams waived preliminary hearing and the reading of the information. Wilkerson and Roy Rucker, county attorney, and Henry Adams, the boy's father, were in conference before the arraignment and the close of the conference Rucker repeated his determination to ask that the boy be hanged.

Adams this morning received a telegram from Charles A. Crowder of Joplin, asking him to accept his services in defense of the boy free of charge.

Sedalia, Aug. 14.—A plea of not guilty and that of insanity will be the defense course of Everett Adams, 17-year-old Wilmington, O., school boy when he goes to trial on the charge of having murdered Aden R. Clawson, of Lodi, N. Y.

This was announced today by Henry Adams, the boy's father after county attorney, Roy Rucker announced his determination to ask for the death penalty. Adams said that his son would waive preliminary hearing this afternoon. The Pettis County authorities are not inclined to grant the request that the boy be taken over the highway to see if he can identify the spot of the murder. Rucker said he was certain that the murder had been committed in Pettis County.

He is opposed to affiliation with the A. F. of L. He is serving his third term as president of the association.

INTRODUCING THE NEW FORD

FIFTY-THREE CHANGES IN THE NEW 1926 MODELS.

STREAM-LINE BODIES

Baked Enamel Finish, Longer Body, Roomier Seats, Wider Fenders and Better Brakes Included.

Kansas City, Aug. 14. — Fifty-three changes will be made in the 1926 Ford models but the cars will not include a gearshift, the Kansas City Post says this afternoon in a copyrighted article. The Ford plants over the country have been shut down to make the necessary adjustments for changes in the new models which will appear early in September, according to the Post. A portion of the Ford story, reproduced by permission, follows:

"Several thousand Kansas City motorists will need a new introduction to coy Miss Ford, 1926 model, when she makes her debut on Kansas City thoroughfares in September. New models will have stream lines and will gleam with baked enamel bodies causing the old flivver motorists to rub his eyes in bewilderment.'

"There will be fifty-three other changes in construction and body design. The body will be longer, and roomier seats will be a feature of the new design. The emergency brake drums will be increased from eight inches to ten inches in diameter. The drums will also be widened two inches. Improved brake mechanism will extend to the service brake also. The service brake will be widened three inches and the brake bands made wider.

"No provisions have been made for changes in the engine proper. No provisions have been made for a gearshift in the Fords despite persistent rumors to the contrary.

"The fenders will be an inch wider and their shape will be changed. They will be placed more strongly. The running board will be an inch wider. The foot pedals will be wider and will be provided with legs on the sides to prevent the foot from slipping off. The new body will be lower slung than the older, but the exact increase could not be ascertained. Minor changes including the radiator and hood will be found on the new models. To make a more complete change even the name on the radiator will be in smaller letters.''

It is understood the Post says, that the assemblying plants will be ready to turn out the new models by Sept. 1, but it is not known when they will be ready for distribution.

LET ONE SIGNAL DO.

There is need for uniform hand signals in the driving of motor cars. There are almost as many different systems as there are states in the union. Missouri has adopted a three signal system and not more than half the people make these three correctly.

Misinterpretation of signals is a common cause of accidents. When a driver intends to turn to the left and makes a signal to turn right, the man behind is liable to crash into him if he is not very careful. Hand signals ought to be as near fool proof as possible.

A prominent manufacturer of motor cars has suggested that one signal would be sufficient. If the hand were thrust straight out paralell with the ground, it would mean to the man behind him that he was going to do something and it would be up to the man behind to slow down and watch developments.

There is considerable merit in the suggestion. Signals that mean anything more are worse than useless when not made correctly. An incorrect signal may bring on an accident instead of preventing one as intended. The business of making and selling motor cars has grown with such rapidity that the country has not been able to keep up with such details as hand signals, uniform highway markings and uniform traffic laws. But, since motor traffic is rapidly becoming a national rather than a local or state thing, these things must eventually be worked out.

At the close of the last legislative session Governor Baker held up more than $3,000,000 of the appropriations that the legislature made without knowing where the money was coming from, on the plea that the expected revenues would not equal the sums appropriated. According to recent dispatches, he is now convinced that it will be possible to release practically all if not all, the money appropriated. Missouri, like other states, needs some sort of an intelligent budget system. In 1903 the state's expenditures were $182,000,000. In 1923 this had risen to $1,450,000,000. Or to state it differently, the per capita cost of state government in 1903 was $2.25 while in 1923 it was $13.10 and the end is not in sight.

A couple of Chicago metallurgical engineers claim to have discovered a method of hardening and tempering lead. Science has been trying this since the ancient days of Egypt and, if they have succeeded in solving the problem, it is needless to say the uses and benefits of this already valuable metal will be revolutionized.

New York democrats are running true to form now and have a big fight on for the nomination for mayor. Mayor Hylan wants a third term and Tammany Hall thinks it time they were taking charge again. The republicans are preparing to gather in the sheaves, when the harvest is over, with a fusion ticket they have selected.

Young people must not get the idea that the billing and cooing ends with the honeymoon. It's just the cooing that stops then.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER
By Charles P. Stewart
NEA Service Writer.

Washington.—Is the world in danger of working up to a larger population than it can support?—or, rather, more than it can support comfortably?

Of course those it absolutely can't support will die. But a great many more than it can support decently may be able to eke out a bare existence, which is just the condition prevailing on some parts of the globe now.

For some reason or other this has been a red hot topic of discussion in certain Washington circles—biologists, farm experts, census workers, geographers, historians and military men—ever since the war. What's more, the historians say it crops up after every great war..

Why is this?—right after a war?—when one would suppose the world would be thinking about replenishment of its human loss?

One group of scientists, which poohpoohs the Malthusian theory, calls such worrying pure foolishness—an aftermath of war-bred hysteria.

The other main group, to which most of the military men belong, replies that all big wars are caused, primarily, by local overcrowding, which reminds people of the awful situation which will prevail when it's worldwide.

With the scientists in such complete disagreement, any layman is at liberty to solve the problem for himself.

Employment Is on Down Grade in Ill.

Excess of Labor In Chicago Over Available Jobs Worst Known In Six Months.

Chicago, Aug. 12.—(United Press)—Industrial employment conditions in Illinois continued on the down grade during July despite a boom in building which absorbed part of the factory overflow, according to the monthly report of the Bureau of Labor statistics of the Illinois Department of Labor.

In Chicago the excess of labor over available jobs was the worst in six months. Employers in all parts of the state have reduced their pay rolls. Conditions are expected to change little this month as the building industry gives promise of maintaining the heavy employment of the last two months.

Communities almost entirely dependent upon factory industries reported the worst conditions. Chicago had a ratio of 171 job seekers to 100 jobs. Cicero experienced a similar drop. Aurora reported practically the same conditions as in the previous month.

In Danville and Decatur, an active demand for farm labor relieved what otherwise would have been a serious slump.

Cicero experienced an 11 per cent drop for the factories reporting to the state labor department. There was also a sharp decline in Joliet.

East St. Louis, which reported improved conditions last month, sagged the decline of other industrial centers with report of August 1. Rock Island reported a sixteen per cent decdease in employment and Moline 7.2 per cent.

Quincy and Rockford remained practically unchanged during the last thirty days. In Springfield the drop was due largely to vacations and the annual summer shut down of some of its factories. Fundamentally conditions remained unchanged.

Peoria, alone of the cities reporting to the bureau, had more laborers employed last month than in June. A number of factories increased their payrolls during the July period.

Hobbies of the Great and Near Great in American National Life

SENATOR GEORGE H. MOSES

The heritage of his Colonial forefathers has been inscribed on the career of Senator George H. Moses (R., of N. H.) president pro tem of the Senate, as revealed in the hobby investigation.

School teacher, Minister to Greece, and lastly United States Senator, his career has been predicated upon three simple characteristics: Independent thought, courage and humor. The odd trinity has been written indelibly into his daily life.

Known as the "go-getter" of the Senate, Moses is famed for his successes in the face of great odds. His services are always sought when the opposition is strongest and he brings to the battle a brilliant wit and great ability as a debater. Few men seek to cross verbal words with him, yet the gentleness of his flashing humor has made friends of even his political opponents.

Brilliant Speaker.

The Senator is a favorite in the capital's dinner set because of his ability as a conversationalist. He loves the life, too, and no social event in the capital is quite complete without his presence.

His independence of action amounts to a hobby. Although chairman of the Senatorial campaign committee, he doesn't hesitate a second to oppose his party leaders if a measure displeases him. Yet it is to his management of the recent campaign that Republican Senators accredit their majority in the present Congress. In the last Congress he fought the postal-pay veto of President Coolidge with as much vigor as did the most belligerent Democrat. And the postal employes finally got their salary increases—thanks to Moses.

Hits Dawes.

He dares the greatest heights. When Vice-President Dawes began to fill newspaper columns with his attack on the Senate's rules it was Moses who stepped out as president pro tem, of the Senate to assail the Vice-President's viewpoint. Without mentioning Dawes, but in language which defied misinterpretation, Moses said:

"It is to be observed that, with few exceptions, the demand for a change in the rules of the Senate arises from those whose contact with the Senate is either brief or non-existent. Many a man has come into the Senate with a determination to tame it, and almost without exception these men have themselves been tamed by the Senate and have come to realize the true value of the Senate rules."

Another hobby of the Senator's is to make himself the butt of anecdotes. His best anecdote is about his early life as a school teacher. On the closing day of one term he asked the children what reading lesson they desired, and one youngster called out "Page 106." When the Senator found the page he also found a poem entitled "The Burial of Moses."

Favorite Anecdote.

His favorite anecdote, however, is about two French Canadians who were in New Hampshire when the battleship Maine was sunk in Havana Harbor. One of the Canucks was erudite—he could solve newspaper headlines. The other could neither read nor write.

The Canucks found a newspaper recounting the sinking of the Maine.

"What does the paper say," inquired the non-reader.

It says 'Maine sunk,'" replied the educated one.

"My God!" shouted the non-reader, "my brother lives in Portland nad now he's gone to hell!"

Taught School.

The Senator loves children. He never forgets his own school days, when he had to work his way through college, first as a book agent, then as a seashore hotel waiter and, finally, by teaching school on the side. Recently seventy youngsters from a New Hampshire school wrote him letters, evidently in response to a civic-class suggestion by their teacher. The Senator responded to each one, and when his replies reached New England every child in town wrote him "for a letter." And he answered each one in person.

Moses gets his recreation from motor rides and walking. He doesn't drive his own car when he motors, having never mastered the wheel. Like several other Senators, his initial efforts to become a Barney Oldfield resulted in disaster. Moses ended his driving career by piling his car upon the sidewalk while en route to his office one morning.

Tomorrow—Senator John Kendrick.

A "Moral Explosion" Is Predicted at Yale

Four Members of Class of 1895 Are Charged With Conspiring To Violate 18th Amendment.

New Haven, Conn., Aug. 12—(United Press)—A "moral explosion" at Yale is predicted by the Rev. George Chalmers Richmond of Philadelphia, formerly of St. Louis, who recently charged four fellow members of the class of 1895 with conspiracy to violate the Eighteenth amendment.

Dr. Richmond sent Prohibition Commissioner Haynes a copy of a letter which he says he and other members of the class received from the four, who acted as the class committee.

This letter read in part:

"The committee has considered the matter of liquor at our class reunion this spring at length. We have finally decided to follow the wishes of a large majority of the class and have some liquor at our class headquarters. The cost of the liquor is not paid out of funds subscribed to the reunion expenses, but is taken care of by two or three men entirely outside, so that they are really entertaining their friends at our reunion in New Haven. We plan to control it more than we have in the past, and I do not believe that if you attend the reunion you will see anything objectionable."

Dr. Richmond's letter to Haynes reads in part:

"How many graduates, fellows and undergraduates are involved I cannot say at this time. I received a letter in June from a Yale professor imploring me not to bring his name into any newspaper controversy for fear of moral explosion. So we may have quite a moral explosion in New Haven this fall. It may do Yale good to have its first moral revival, not Taft's kind or Billy Sunday's, but based on the good old American Constitution, which our Yale founders and forefathers believed in and fought for."

Circus Elephants Saves Boy Spanking

One of the elephants with the Robbins Brothers Big four ring show that will be here August 20 is known as Edna. She loves little children. Upon many occasions she has shown her feelings in this regard. It was down in a Missouri town that she made a display of this affection when it seems that a man had come into the menagerie with his 8-year-old boy. They had been having a discussion and the father was somewhat peeved. Right here he felt that it was time to exercise his authority and proceeded in front of Edna to give the boy a spanking. Edna could not stand the sight and being a few feet from them reached over with her trunk and grabbed Mr. Papa by the back of the neck and proceeded to throw him some distance away.

Youngsters of 15 Elope When Parents Interfere

JOE MEDYEKE AND HIS "IRISH ROSE," HAZEL MITCHELL

By NEA Service

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Life at 15 is a momentous episode.

Parents can't understand. They dub the bloom of romance as "puppy love" and threaten the rod and bed without supper.

Thus reasoned Hazel Mitchell, 15, little Scotch-Irish girl when a week ago her mother and the boy's mother sought to separate her from her 15-year-old sweetheart of Jewish faith.

Today the Scotch-Irish and Jewish mothers look resentfully at each other across the back porch. For Hazel and Joe Medyeke, the Jewish boy, have eloped—an Abie's Irish Rose affair in real life.

Affairs Starts Early.

The Mitchells have lived in the house where Mrs. J. Sack, the boy's mother, is landlady for three weeks. It was either a case of "puppy love" or love at first sight for the youngsters, say both mothers.

Or then again they may have known each other before the Mitchells moved to the apartment.

In any event Joe was vamped good and securely. The second day of Hazel's residence there the affair was on.

Joe would whistle up the stairway and Hazel would come tiptoeing down. She would tell her mother she was going up to sit an hour with Mrs. Sack.

And while Mrs. Sack drank in the affairs of Cupid on the silver sheet at a nearby picture show, her son and the little Scotch Irish girl held hands and promised eternal love in the seclusion of the Sack apartment.

"We thought we had it stopped," Mrs. Sack said. "For a whole week it was peaceful. My son went his way and the Mitchell girl went hers. Then I found my son writing a letter to Hazel. I stopped it straight off and hid the letter he had started. Then I found a note which Hazel left on the sewing machine for Joey. I called Hazel out on the porch and told her if she didn't stop this nonsense she and her mother would have to move."

And Then It Happened.

But that didn't end things. An open window showed the route the elopers had taken. A letter from Hazel to her mother bid farewell.

While Hazel's mother is in tears, Joe's mother is optimistic. She thinks they are in the neighborhood, because someone has been raiding the icebox.

"Joe has run away before, and he usually slips back to get something to eat," says Mrs. Sack.

Hazel's Farewell Note.

Here is Hazel's farewell note to her mother:

My Mother: I have run away. Forgive me. I am nearly out of my head. Don't worry, because the good Lord will take care of me. The hypocrite downstairs (Mrs. Sack) has the note I wrote to Joe about the farm. Please don't worry. I can hardly write. I haven't a cent, but I will try to get work as soon as I can, and I will send you money for my care and keeping all these years. Oh, mamma, I don't want to go, but you would never forgive me. Don't send anyone to look for me. I may go crazy. You have been so good to me, but I have taken advantage of you. When I get tired of it all, I may give myself up to a home. Such people as the landlady is what makes the younger generation what it is. Your daughter, Hazel.

HIGHWAY MAY BE RE-ROUTED

ITASCA PARK ROAD MAY BE TAKEN AWAY FROM MARYVILLE.

A MEETING TO BE HELD

St. Joseph Gazette Says Oregon, Mound City, Fairfax and Tarkio Are Making Efforts for Road.

The route of the Itasca Park highway which passes through Maryville may be changed, according to today's St. Joseph Gazette. The article in the St. Joseph paper says Oregon, Mound City, Fairfax and Tarkio are making efforts to get this highway and the matter will be presented at a special meeting of the highway association directors to be called by K. D. Cross of Savannah within the next ten days.

No word has been received in Maryville of any such meeting, according to D. A. Caldwell, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce. Recently W. H. Hambaugh of St. Joseph, secretary of the association, was in Maryville and assisted by a committee here, funds were raised to advertise the highway.

The article in the Gazette follows:

It is possible that the proposition of re-routing the Itasca Park highway through northern Missouri will be considered by the directors of the Itasca Park highway association at a special meeting to be called by President K. D. Cross of Savannah within the next ten days. The people of the towns situated on Missouri state highway No. 1, which passes through Oregon, Mound City, Fairfax and Tarkio, are making strong representations for this international highway.

The commission appointed by the last congress to map out a system of transcontinental motor routes, has recommended a portion of the Itasca Park highway in northwest Missouri to be included in this designation. The recommendations of this committee, however, are yet to be ratified.

Recognized Trails not Effected

When asked whether this action on the part of the federal commission would have any effect on the recognized trails associations or would tend to restrict the business of the touring agencies maintained by automobile clubs and commercial organizations of the various cities, an official of the local automobile club was very emphatic in his belief that the federal designations would stimulate these interest in every way.

"The theory of this action on the part of the Government is the very thing the promoters of the trunk line highways have sought to achieve," he said. "There is an old saying, you know, that 'competition is the life of trade.'

Trail Organizations Favored

"It appears to me that the trails organizations, with their line of publicity, guide books and other literature featuring resorts and recreation centers, have the situation decidedly in their favor. And, on roads where these forces are joined, conditions will be just that much better.

There is no denying the value of publicity in promoting tourist traffic," he continued, "which can only mean an added volume of business to be handled by the tourist bureau maintained by the automobile club, which shows an increase of nearly 100 per cent over the same period of last year."

Mrs. L. H. Stilwell and daughter, Bernadine, of Nebraska City, Nebr., arrived in Parnell last night to visit the former's mother, Mrs. Belle Stevenson, and other relatives.

THE LAW AND THE PROFITS

Comment on the Uniform International Sunday School Lesson for August 16, 1925. Read Galations 5. Wm. Southern, Jr.

Politicians seeking to catch the popular fancy have recently been declaring in public speeches and written articles that there are too many laws, that we in the United States have enacted all kinds of foolish legislation and this fact makes it much harder for us to enforce the good laws. This alibi seems to catch the fancy of the public for I have heard it repeated in smoking rooms on trains, in hotel lobbies, on boat decks and on the streets. Those who wisely announce that there are too many laws seem to think this a perfect excuse for breaking those laws of which they do not approve.

No law was ever placed on the statute books without some reason which seemed to be very good at the time. There is a reason for the traffic laws, for the laws requiring registration of automobiles, for the laws regulating the various lines of trade, for the laws making it necessary to register real estate titles and there was a reason for each law at the time it was passed. When the constitution of Missouri was written it was specified that ministers of the Gospel were not eligible to hold office and in the early laws of this state and other southern states about one half the books were filed with the regulatory laws about slaves. A slave owner was not permitted to beat a slave to death although he might whip his slave severely. Some of these old laws are still on the books unrepealed. Of course they are useless now and no attention is paid to them. So with hundreds and thousands of other laws which were good at the time they were enacted but are now obsolete.

If those who are, parrot like, repeating what they have heard some demagogue solemnly orating, would stop and think a minute they would see how foolish they are. No law pinches any person who does not desire to break that law. Only about five per cent of our people are ever in the law courts. Ninety-five per cent of the people are law abiding and never seriously violate the law. In fact, most of us do not know what the laws are and even in ignorance do not break them, because we have no wish whatever to do other than as good citizens.

This is the quarterly temperance lesson and in the text Paul, writing in his own defense to the church he established in Galatia, lays down some very fine principles. He says that the final evidence of good citizenship is love, joy, peace, long suffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, and self control, and adds just what I have said in the beginning "against such there is no law." That is to say we quarrel about certain laws and too many laws only and when we want to violate some specific law. If we follow Paul's prescription it will make no difference to us how many laws there are written by men, nor how many thousands of statute books there are on the shelves, nor haw many lawyers there may be we will never come into court as law breakers.

On a train just a few days ago I heard three men talking. They were horrified by an incident which had just happened. A Federal officer had passed through the train and had confiscated three quarts of whisky found in a splendid leather bag belonging to a man who was well dressed, well educated and evidently a big business man of high standing. The men said the Federal agents were snoopers and beneath consideration and that the prohibition law was manufacturing hypocrites and liars and breaking down the morale of the country. It was all I could do not to break in and suggest that the man who obeyed the law need not be a hypocrite and a liar. He was a hypocrite and a liar because he was a criminal and criminals all pretend to be innocent and will try to lie out of the trouble. The highwayman hates the law, the murderer does not approve of the law which forbids murder, the bootlegger agrees perfectly with these gentlemen on the train. We only rail at the law when that law pinches us.

So far this discussion has pertained to man made laws, to laws which society forges for its own protection. What about God's laws?

Has the Almighty made too many laws? Ought the law of gravitation to be suspended when some daring aviator falls from the sky and is dashed lifeless on the ground? His life is innocent and is snuffed out because of a law. When an enemy bullet is speeding toward the heart of a great and useful commander, should the law be suspended and that bullet turned aside? Could God himself suspend the law and save the lives of those caught in a crumbling house torn loose from its foundations by an earthquake? He could and we believe has often miraculously saved many. We know of cases where men and women were saved miraculously in times of great calamaties and in war. But the laws of God are not suspended. God does not do things that way.

Does the church make hypocrites and liars?

Are there too many God made laws and should we appoint a committee to edit the Bible and repeal all the laws there set down which we do not like and which we would like to break?

It is all just as simple as the laws of the land. If we violate man made laws we are punished, sometimes by the enforcement of the law, always whether the law is enforced or not by the officials. We never break a law, man made nor God made, but we suffer because of our law breaking.

The laws of God are self enforcing and inevitable. We may be forgiven our transgressions but the scars on the soul remain. A man may recover from a terrible surgical operation but the scar remains. We may repent our violation of God's law and be forgiven but a scar remains on the soul.

The world is growing better. Let me close with this wonderful paragraph written by Phillips Brooks which sums up the whole discussion and is in itself a sermon on temperance:

"Be such a man and live such a life that if every man were such as you and every life like yours, this earth would be a paradise."

Lippman's Duroc-Jersey Sow Has a Litter of 19 Pigs

Roy Lipman, former president of the Nodaway County Farm Bureau Federation, who lives a few miles southeast of Maryville, at Valley View Farm, has had exceptionally good luck this year with his crop of Duroc-Jersey hogs. This summer seven of his sows have farrowed and from the seven litters he has a total of seventy-one healthy pigs.

One of his Duroc-Jersey sows, which farrowed last Sunday, had about the biggest litter that has been reported in Nodaway County for many years. This certain sow had a litter of nineteen pigs. He put three of the litter with another sow and the farrowing sow killed four by lying on them. Also last night a gilt of his had a litter of eighteen. Twelve of these are still living.

Nominate Wilcox For Senate Seat

Selected on Fourth Ballot by Wisconsin Republicans to Run for La Follette's Office.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 14.—Roy P. Wilcox of Eau Claire, was nominated by the Republican party in state convention here last night, for the office of United States senator on the fourth ballot of the convention.

Complete harmony reigned throughout the meeting yesterday. At the close of an address by Senator Irvine L. Lenroot, Superior, late in the afternoon, speeches were made placing in nomination six candidates. Only one ballot was taken before recess shortly before 7 o'clock and this showed Dean H. L. Russell of the College of Agriculture, leading nearly two to one over his nearest opponent, Roy P. Wilcox, of Eau Claire. The first three ballots by rule of the convention are considered informal and cannot be made formal.

Wilcox will be the Coolidge Republican candidate for the unexpired term of the late Senator La Follette. The late senator's son already has announced his candidacy as leader of the La Follette Progressive group.

The candidacy of Mr. Wilcox ran a hectic course through the convention, the lead having at one time gone to Dean H. L. Russell f the agricultural college of the University of Wisconsin, who withdrew after stating through a representative, that he was unable to make the race.

Oshkosh, Wis., Aug. 14.—The fight to restore Wisconsin to the G. O. P. ranks will be led by Roy P. Wilcox, former State Senator and candidate for governor in 1918.

Wilcox was named regular republican candidate for the United States Senate on the fourth ballot in the convention held here to select a man to oppose Robert Lafollette, Jr., in the special fall election to fill the vacancy created by the death of Senator Robert M. Lafollette.

State Fair Will Open Tomorrow

Missouri State Fair Grounds, August 14.—With the opening day of the silver anniversary Missouri State Fair set for Saturday of this week, preparations are being made to handle record crowds during the eight-day exposition. The show, including the exhibits and al kinds of attractions, is valued at $5,000,000.

Indications, at the eve of the opening day, forecast the largest attendance that Missouri has ever sent out to its annual exposition. The abundance of rain, which fell during the last week and which has been more or less general throughout the state, will not only add millions of dollars to the wealth of Missouri, but is also expected to add materially to the attendance of the State Fair. The roads in central Missouri were never in better condition, having been gone over by the State Highway Commission especially for the State fair traffic. The financial status of the farmer is also on the upward trend in the state.

C. D. Bellows of Maryville is president of the State Fair Board.

London Textile Strike Averted

London, Aug. 14.—The government's attention which has been alternating between the country's foreign relations and home affairs was focused today on the grave domestic issues involving a threatened strike in the textile and coal industries. However, the labor situation seems brighter since Sir Arthur Maitland, labor commissioner, intervened to prevent the threatened walkout of 200,000 textile employees.

A "personal guarantee" means very little to you. unless you know the man who makes it.

Ninety per cent of the things bought for your home are selected by the lady member of the firm. She is the purchasing agent. Most men admit that she is a capable buyer, and the reason is this: She must be shown — convinced by proof — that an article is what she needs and is worth the price!

For that reason, she sees the advantage of dealing with a local merchant — a man whose "personal guarantee of satisfaction" means just what it says.

She knows that what he advertises in this paper is entitled to her consideration. Because she has confidence in her neighbor—the local dealer—she can safely invest the family funds in what he guarantees.

Chicago Closing Grain Review.

Chicago, Aug. 14.—Divided action featured today's close on the Board of Trade. Wheat closed sharply lower, corn was independently stronger.

Oats dropped with wheat.

General selling in wheat was instigated by disappointing cables and optimistic crop news from the Canadian Spring Belt. A little scattered selling in corn was lost sight of in a wave of buying inspired by better cash demands and lighter receipts.

Oats were lower in price with wheat.

Provisions firmed up on packing house buying.

WHY JAYWALK, JAMS TRAFFIC

MOTORISTS USE MAIN STREET FOR A BOULEVARD.

SAT. NIGHT A PARADE

Elimination Complete Left Turn at Two Intersections Suggested To Lessen Traffic Evils.

"A thrill a minute!"

This is the way one person who described the narrow escapes he witnessed after observing pedestrians attempting to dodge motor cars on a Saturday evening on Third and Main and at Fourth and Main streets. This not only holds true for Saturday nights when numbers of those living in the rural districts come in to do their trading, but all through the week and on Sunday, although the traffic is heavier many fold on Saturday.

Time after time pedestrians are left standing on the turtleback lights in the pavement at the intersection of the streets, waiting for traffic to lessen, in order so they can get across the street. But this would not occur if jaywalking were abolished. The time is coming, and not far off, when jaywalking will be prohibited.

Main street itself is not only a crowded thoroughfare, but is also a part of two state highways that run through the city. Paved roads now lead in and out of the city, connecting with Main street, and the number of tourists that go through here is increasing every day. But when these state highways are all entirely paved and it will only be a matter of a year or two that No. 27 will be paved the entire distance to St. Joseph, the tourist traffic will be heavier.

For the safety of pedestrians and the better facilitation of the motor vehicle traffic at the intersecting streets, this practice of jaywalking should be discontinued, and if the public will not take it upon itself to assist in this matter, a city ordinance could aid greatly.

But, it is not only the pedestriar traffic at intersections that hampers the seemingly carless, haphazard methods that more than one motorist employs when driving over the Main street, and when entering and emerging from the parking stalls as marked by the white paint. Further, this is not all of the faults that can be noted by the careful observer. Too many automobile drivers take the Main street to be a sort of a boulevard for pleasure driving, and having nowhere else to go, aimlessly drive for about four or five blocks north on Main from First street and then turn around and retrace the same path, and it has appeared that this is practiced on the days and evenings when the traffic is the heaviest. Not long ago on a Saturday night an officer observed a young fellow driving a car down to the intersection of Fourth and Main, then make a complete turn around the turtleback light at this point and drive south. He was observed to make the turn at Fourth and Main seventeen distinct times within the course of an hour. There is no need for comment on such a practice.

The suggestion has been made that no complete left turns be permitted at the two busiest intersections of the city, Third and Main streets and Fourth and Main streets.

This has been heartily endorsed by some of the local police officers. It may not be averse to note that the getting of an automobile into the parking spaces parallel to the curb is somewhat of a task. The easiest and best method to use is to run the car slightly ahead of the designated parking stall and then back in, that is if another vehicle is parked immediately ahead.

Leaves Home a Snob; Comes Back a Buster

He left home a snob, but he came back a buster.

Words to that effect sum up "The Snob Buster," which is showing at the Empirt Theater tonight and tomorrow. The Snob Buster tells the story of a young man who is the only son of an old and very nose-in-the-air Boston family. For 23 years this blue-blooded young man has been brought up like an orchid in a hot house. Then suddenly this cherished flower of New England is transplanted to the hardy soil of a War Camp and he emerges a strong, democratic, splendid sunflower.

Staples to Leave on Western Trip

Only Twice in 46 Years Has the Local Express Office Been Without a Staples in Charge.

For the second time within 46 years, the express office here will be in charge for the next month of some one outside of the Staples family. W. J. Staples, who has been the express agent in Maryville for forty-six years, leaves tomorrow afternoon for a month's vacation. Accompanied by Mrs. Staples they will visit at Great Falls, Mont., with Mrs. Staples' sister, Mrs. Maude Feurt, and then Mr. Staples will go on to San Francisco, Cal., to visit his son, Harold Staples. He will be joined later by Mrs. Staples in San Francisco and will visit also with Mrs. Staples' brother, Ernest Morin, at Everett, Wash. They expect to be gone about a month.

D. C. Heifner of Moberly, a cousin of the Heifner family of this city, will be in charge of the office here during their vacation.

Mr. Staples has been the agent of the express company here nearly 46 years. He became agent here after the completion of the Wabash railroad through here.

Makes Plea for More Attendance at Elmo

(By Edgar O. Wells, Minister).

It was with great joy that we greeted all those "who cared," to be present last Sunday morning, to hear the message on "The Portrait of a Real Man," and there was a regular stampede in other directions on Sunday night, os only eight of our own people were present, to hear a message on "Tuning in With the Infinite." Brethren, your minister is much humiliated when many strangers are wondering why such things can be. What made it much more embarrassing was, that the people were disappointed because they came to hear the program which was announced, and which had to be postponed for two weeks because those who were in charge of the program, were kept at home on account of sickness in the family. How many were there? Just 23, including the preacher, and the church will seat ten times that number. Scolding? No, just exhorting.

We have good news for all who desire to be here on next Sunday. Sunday school at the usual hour, followed by a sermon on edueation. The theme, "Full Equipment for Service." We are making a plea for the attendance of every grown person attending Sunday School. Give your undivided attention to a message that should engage the mind and heart ot everyone, and especially the youth ot this community. But what about the treat? It will not be of candy or any other sweetmeats, yet it is this. Brother Trevor Winney, before whose name we now write, Rev. who was licensed by Dr. W. F. Burris, on recommendation of our quarterly conference at its third session, will be with us and preach to the people after the song service which will begin at 8:00 p. m. I think I see you coming in goodly numbers, to all of these services.

Rush Work So State May Accept Road Job

Shoulders Along Concrete on Two Highways Out of Maryville Being Put in Shape.

Work is being rapidly pushed along on Highways No. 27 and No. 18, south out of Maryville ten miles and north two miles so that they will soon be in shape to be accepted by the state.

The Atkinson Paving Co., has subletted the work of putting the shoulders in shape to conform with the state specifications and two different crews of men have commenced operations this week.

For about five miles south out of Maryville the shoulders on the concrete pavement have been finished and a crew started work yesterday on state road No. 18 two miles north out of Maryville.

The Pittsburgh-Des Moines Bridge Co., now has men here who are putting in culverts on the last project to be let by the state in this county, the 4.7 miles between Maryville and Pickering.
